

EISENHOWER, TOP OFFICIALS FLEE IN H-TEST

About Town
And Country
By TIMOTHEUS T.

The Charles Veatches are expected in Harrisburg tomorrow after a couple of years at Anchorage, Alaska, where he has been serving as an officer in the army. A recent issue of the Anchorage Daily Times carried an article about their daughter, Linda, getting a certificate of merit in a poster contest—the 30th annual international poster contest sponsored by the Latham Foundation for the Promotion of Humane Education, Oakland, Calif. Linda has just completed her freshman year in high school.

This was very fine considering posters were received from all parts of the United States, Canada, Alaska, Mexico and 20 foreign countries.

LINDA also won first place in the watercolor exhibit at the Fur Rendezvous in Anchorage in February. The Fur Rendezvous is a yearly celebration lasting ten days and is a combination of exhibits, auctions, dog sled races, ski events and ice skating. Mrs. Veatch reports.

She writes that Charlie's next station is Third Army Headquarters, Fort McPherson, Georgia.

ROAMING AROUND: Of Timmo happened in on the Shorthorn cattle sale at Dr. E. M. Travelstead's farm last Saturday afternoon and it was quite an event, with lots of people there in spite of the rain.

Not being a cattle man myself, and with no place to put one if I had it, and with no cash on hand to buy one if I needed a cow real badly, I naturally did not enter the bidding.

But at one point I was quite scared up. A fellow next to me was a bit hard of hearing and when one female was up for sale he turned and asked the how high the bidding had reached.

"Six seventy five, they're asking," I shouted to him, then got worried. What if the auctioneer heard me shout six seventy five and yell out, "Sold to the man with the bald head—what's your name and where are you from, mister?"

But the spectator next to me didn't hear me and asked me again.

"Six seventy five," I whispered.

"What? Speak louder."

"Six seventy five," I whispered.

"What?"

"It's already sold—six seventy-five," I resumed shouting.

BUT I'LL SAY one thing. I spent most of the afternoon trying to catch a bid and never did see anybody make one. They must certainly make bids because the auctioneers see them but I was really a greenhorn among the Shorthorns and never did see the signal. I was afraid to lift my hand to scratch my neck or do almost anything except stand like a cigar store Indian for fear I would be in the middle of the bidding with but six dollars and 75 cents in my pocket. And that kind of money definitely is hay around a big Shorthorn sale.

Molotov Arrives for Big Three Minister Talks Amid
Red Propaganda Broadcast

NEW YORK (UP)—Vyacheslav M. Molotov, stony-faced apostle of Soviet foreign policy, arrived today from Moscow, backed by a massive Communist propaganda campaign aimed at winning the Big Four talks.

The Soviet foreign minister, making his first visit to the United States since 1946, disembarked from the luxury liner Queen Elizabeth one day before the Western Big Three foreign ministers assemble in New York to re-forge their united front.

Coinciding with Molotov's arrival was a major broadcast by Moscow Radio setting forth the Kremlin's aims at the forthcoming "meeting at the summit" and blaming the United States in advance for failure should failure occur.

The radio broadcast, quoting the Soviet organ Pravda, was startling for its omission of any reference to Germany and for its emphasis on the Far East. Soviet experts here regarded it the Kremlin's most important pronouncement to date on Soviet aims in the top-level conference at Geneva.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay begin a two-day conference Thursday and then journey to San Francisco Monday to meet Molotov and lay plans for the July 18 meeting of the heads of government.

The occasion of the San Francisco meeting is a 10th anniversary commemorative session of the United Nations in the city where it was born. Molotov leaves for the West Coast by train tonight.

The East and West patterns for the forthcoming Geneva meeting were becoming clear: Both agreed on the surface on such matters as the eventual reunification of Germany but they were worlds apart in their approaches to the problems.

Four Topics Listed

Moscow Radio's latest outpouring set forth what is expected to be the Kremlin's official proposal for the Geneva conference agenda. The broadcast listed four major topics:

1. "Reduction in the armaments of states and the prohibition of atomic weapons."
2. "The creation of collective security in Europe."
3. "The safeguarding of peace and security in Asia and the Far East."
4. "The restoration of the legitimate rights of the Chinese Peoples Republic (Communist China) in the United Nations."

But with the simple listing of broad topics was a blunt rejection of United States hopes to discuss such matters as freeing the Communist satellite nations from bondage and a condemnation of international communism.

Such proposals are "nonsense," Pravda said.

Blame Death on Poor Visibility
At Rail Crossing

Poor visibility due to shrubbery growing near the tracks contributed to the death last Saturday of Claude Brown in an auto-train crash at the Beulah Heights crossing near Eldorado, a coroner's jury verdict last night said.

Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons conducted the inquest at the Eldorado city hall for the 27-year-old Eldorado merchant who was fatally injured when a New York Central freight train struck his car. An all-woman jury returned the verdict.

Testifying were Dr. Lee Pearce, Eldorado physician and surgeon, and Ike Willford, embalmer associated with the Martin funeral home at Eldorado. Affidavits from Frank Zirkelbach, locomotive engineer, and Theron W. Weisenberger, locomotive fireman, both of Mt. Carmel, were read.

Zirkelbach and Weisenberger both said that the locomotive whistle had been given its regulation crossing sounding, that the engine bells were ringing and that the headlights were burning. They testified the southbound train was traveling 35 miles per hour.

The engineer said he was sitting on the right side of the locomotive and didn't see the car approach from the left side and the first that he knew of the car was when the fireman warned him. He said he set his brakes and stopped the train a quarter of a mile past the crossing.

Fireman Weisenberger said he was sitting on the left side and saw the auto when it was between Route 43 and the crossing, that the car was moving 15 to 20 miles an hour as it came upon the tracks without stopping. He said when he realized the car was not stopping he cried to the engineer to set the brakes.

Dr. Pearce said the patient, unconscious when he arrived at Pearce hospital by ambulance, suffered a skull fracture and a crushing blow to the chest.

Willford, who also described the injuries, said that there was poor visibility at the crossing due to vegetation growing close to the tracks.

Kiwanis Resolution Asks Fight for Federal Highway

Members of the Kiwanis club last night passed a resolution urging all civic clubs in Harrisburg to support the Kiwanis club in seeking the state to approve the proposed federal highway from Shawneetown to St. Louis routed through this city.

It was pointed out neighboring towns have sent delegations to Springfield and have been carrying on a campaign to have the route through their towns and that it is time for Harrisburg to put up a fight for the route itself.

The program last night, held at the Masonic temple, was an educational one on Kiwanis itself. A quiz was conducted with the members divided into opposing teams, with questions on the duties of various committees and naming of division, district and international officers.

House Approves
Pay Increase
For Legislators

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The House, despite the filibuster, Tuesday passed a bill to raise the pay of legislators from $5,000 to $6,000 a year.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Charles Skyles (D-Chicago), carried on a 95-21 vote and was sent to the Senate.

Other bills passed and sent to the Senate today:

Permit townships to spend up to $100 a year to maintain the graves of war dead.

Appropriate $50,000 to the superintendent of public instruction to establish a research and statistics study on school financing and operations.

Appropriate $25,000 for a study of election laws, a subject not explored since the 1880s.

Permit courts to apportion damages received in a wrongful death suit, so widows and dependent children might benefit first.

The House passed one Senate bill, the $1,516,810 biennial appropriation bill for the office of State Treasurer Warren Wright. The bill previously had to be postponed when it failed to get enough votes for passage. There were objections to it on grounds the appropriation included provision for about 15 downstate inheritance tax inspectors, a notoriously easy job that in the past has been held mainly by county chairmen.

But Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienne), hinting that other state officials were fighting Wright for his rumored ambitions to run for another state office, said the House had voted increases for other state officers and should do so for Wright "who has to make his own record."

Father of Five Kids Wins $16,000, is In Dither Over Going for $64,000

NEW YORK (UP)—Patrolman Redmond L. (Red) O'Hanlon, one of New York's finest, is in a fine dither this day.

He has a wife and five nice kids and a two-story, frame, stained-shingle house with a nice heavy mortgage—and $16,000 in crisp cash.

The $16,000 he won Tuesday night. With it he would like to build two more rooms on his house (he has three bedrooms now, and feels the need for more as his family keeps increasing).

But, by answering just two more questions correctly on a subject on which he's an expert—Shakespeare—he can win $64,000 on the new CBS television quiz program called "The $64,000 Question."

However, if he misses either question, he'll win no money at all and will have to settle for a measly old consolation prize—a Cadillac dreamboat convertible.

O'Hanlon, 39, is a 10-year veteran of the New York police force and a 16-year student of Shakespeare with a total of 6,000 hours of study of the wordplay (puns, and such) in the Bard's works.

Last week on the TV show he answered eight Shakespearean questions (that's the category he picked) to win $8,000. Figuring income

Peron Expels
Two Officials of Catholic Church

Seize Membership
Lists of Laymen's Organization

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UP)—President Juan D. Peron's government today expelled from Argentina two of the highest officials of the Roman Catholic church and seized membership lists and documents of the laymen's Catholic Action organization in a nightlong series of raids.

The ousted churchmen were Msgrs. Manuel Tato, acting archbishop of Buenos Aires, and Ramon Carlos Novoa.

On their arrival in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, aboard an Argentine government-operated Aerolineas plane they told newsmen "We have been expelled to Rome."

All Parishes Raided

The raids on Catholic Action offices were carried out in all 145 parishes of Buenos Aires. One priest said after the raids that police told him the lay organization "has ceased to exist."

Father Tello of the San Jose church said "I assume this means that the legal standing of Catholic Action will be withdrawn."

The deportation of the two prominent churchmen was unique both because of the personages involved and the fact that both men are natives of Argentina.

Msgrs. Tato and Novoa were taken to jail at dawn, according to their Attorney, Dr. Manuel Rio. They had been held overnight at the Buenos Aires central police headquarters after their arrest Tuesday.

They and a third church dignitary, Antonio M. Aguirre, were picked up for questioning in connection with the disorders of last Saturday.

Msgr. Tato had been acting as archbishop for Buenos Aires in the illness of Santiago Luis Cardinal Copello, who was in a hospital at the time of the arrests.

One Churchman Released

Aguirre, after long questioning, was released this afternoon and permitted to return to the church offices.

High Vatican sources said any order to arrest Roman Catholic prelates in Argentina would invoke automatic excommunication on President Juan D. Peron and all other persons involved.

Circuit Court Recesses Until Monday After Disposing of Cases

The June term of Saline county circuit court recessed at mid-morning until Monday after disposition of cases set for today.

Set for trial was the lawsuit, Register Publishing Co. vs. John Porter, but the case was settled. The Register's claim against Mr. Porter was settled by compromise with Judge C. Ross Reynolds dismissing the Register's complaint and Porter's counter-claim for damages. The Register was represented by Atty. Scieral Thompson of Harrisburg, Porter by Atty. Stewart Pearce of Carmi.

Judge Reynolds ruled in favor of Valley Steel Products of St. Louis in its suit to collect on a note from Advanced Methods, Inc., and Irving L. Hudes. The judgment was for $927.44 and costs. Valley Steel was represented by Atty. Scieral Thompson, Hudes by Atty. D. F. Rumsey.

Woman Drowns
Neighbor
Boy in Bathtub

BROCKTON, Mass. (UP)—A tense and sometimes incoherent mother confessed today that she drowned a 3-year-old neighbor boy in her bathtub.

Police said the woman, Mrs. Gertrude Riordan, 43, told them what she had done after they found her sitting next to a pond far from her home and staring into its depths.

Mrs. Riordan was arrested Tuesday night several hours after the body of Michael Baldwin was found fully clothed in her bathtub with two face cloths stretched across his mouth and held in position by a safety pin.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Fred M. Baldwin, had been directed to her son's body by a telephone call.

Police who found Mrs. Riordan, wife of attorney Joseph C. Riordan, described her condition as "incoherent."

She was at first unable to give an account of what happened. However, early today she confessed she drowned the boy but didn't know why, police said.

Police said Mrs. Riordan took a taxi cab from her home during the afternoon and rode to the pond. She gave a note to the driver and asked him to deliver it to the Riordan Coal Co. operated by her father-in-law. The note said to call Mrs. Baldwin and "tell her to look for her boy in Gertrude's bathroom."

Highway Speed Limit Bill is Defeated in House

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Illinois House Tuesday defeated a bill for a 65 m.p.h. daytime, 55 m.p.h. night-time highway speed limit by a vote of 55-59.

The bill was one of three such measures before the legislature. It was sponsored by the State Motor Vehicles Laws Commission.

Gov. William G. Stratton has backed such a speed limit bill and another measure with his support, already passed by the Senate, is still alive in the House Motor Vehicles and Traffic Regulation committee.

The bill killed by the House Tuesday would have permitted state and local governments to post speed limits on roads within the limits. It would have increased pickup truck speed maximums to 55 m.p.h. and the top speed for heavy trucks from 40 m.p.h. to 45 m.p.h.

The body of Mrs. Harold Johnson, Rosiclaré woman who drowned Saturday night in the Ohio river, was recovered yesterday near Shetlerville.

Mrs. Johnson and her husband were drowned Saturday night when their automobile ran off the Elizabethtown ferry road. Their bodies were sent last night to Sinsinnow, Wis., for funeral and burial Thursday.

Longest Filibuster in House
History Ends; Tribune Blamed

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The long-est Illinois House filibuster in memory ended today with speeches of withdrawal by the three leading filibusters.

Reps. John K. Morris (D-Chadwick), Paul A. Ziegler (D-Carmi) and Francis J. Loughran (D-Joliet), leaders of the downstate county fair group opposing the Chicago convention hall bills, blamed the Chicago Tribune, chief backer of the convention hall bills, for the filibuster.

The filibuster ended seven legislative days after it began June 7. But before that the House had two weeks of filibusters over legislative reapportionment and other matters.

The downstate fair bloc had called for amendment of the bills for the $14-million-dollar convention and exposition hall so that downstate fairs could draw on the same fund from which the Chicago hall was being built to build fairgrounds structures of their own.

But the backers of the convention hall bills said the downstate fairs which offered agricultural premiums, as most of them do, were already eligible for state aid under the agricultural premium fund. They said these fairs should not be allowed to draw from both funds.

"Democracy Suffered a Defeat" In withdrawing his filibuster, Morris said, "Today democracy suffered a defeat here." He said the "hungry forces behind" the convention hall bills "want to gobble it all up."

He said these "forces" were like a man who said: "I will cut my children's allowances. I will cut my old parents out too, but just think, I will have this great hall as a monument. It will have my name on it—the Chicago Tribune."

He said "to have a free press we must submit to its evils." He said he was withdrawing "because the Senate must act free of special influence when it considers these bills."

15,000 Key Workers Take Part in Program

Large Cities are Included in Civil Defense Operation

EMERGENCY U. S. NEWS CENTER (UP)—The wailing of air raid sirens signalling a make-believe H-bomb attack sent President Eisenhower and other government officials fleeing to safety in emergency secret hideaways today.

Some 15,000 key government workers and officials and members of the Cabinet fled by automobiles and helicopters to places where they could continue their work during "Operation Alert, 1955," the nation's biggest civil defense exercise.

Besides Washington, other targets for imaginary enemy bombers were New York, Chicago, Boston, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Seattle and 41 other cities.

Emergency White House

When the sirens whistled their chilling warning, at 12:05 p. m. EDT, the President and a staff of 30 to 35 key White House personnel left the White House in a convoy of automobiles. Accompanying Mr. Eisenhower were Harold E. Stassen, his assistant on world disarmament problems, and Nelson A. Rockefeller, White House expert on psychological warfare.

Mr. Eisenhower's base of operations tonight will be in a mountain wooded area. Its location is secret although described as from 30 to 300 miles from Washington. This emergency White House is patrolled by armed servicemen on orders to challenge any passerby no matter what his credentials.

But even before the President fled the capital, work went on as usual. He signed five bills into law in the morning, and had several callers. Congress continued its sessions as usual during the "raid."

Many government press information officers had long since departed to key communication points where the temporary flow of government messages and news will be carried on during the three-day operation.

While Mr. Eisenhower hastily left the capital with other officials, Mrs. Eisenhower remained at their farm home at Gettysburg, Pa.

Most Dramatic Events Peoria, Ill., a city on the list of communities which might be "attacked" by the enemy bombers, ignored the alert. Peoria Civil Defense Director Marvin L. Merritt said he just couldn't see a "lot of people running around with arm bands."

The most dramatic events, however, were centered in Washington, where Mr. Eisenhower and members of the cabinet led the way in making the exercise a completely authentic preview of the measures that would be taken to keep the federal government functioning if real war comes.

The H-hour plan called for key officials of 31 federal departments and agencies to drop their work the moment the sirens went off and to scatter, by limousine, private car and helicopter, to 31 previously-designated "emergency relocation centers" dispersed over the eastern seaboard within a radius of 30 to 300 miles from Washington.

The various relocation centers are linked by an elaborate communications system, including closed-circuit television that would enable Mr. Eisenhower to hold "face-to-face" conferences or even a full cabinet meeting with his top advisers.

All of the centers in turn are linked to this emergency news center, located more than 100 miles from Washington. Through this center, where about 100 press, radio and television representatives are on hand, news of the exercise will be funneled to the public, just as in real war news of draft calls, rationing orders and similar measures would be disseminated.

Voluntary censorship forbids publication of the actual sites of any of the 31 secret relocation centers.

New Police Car

The city police department has received its new Oldsmobile police car from Humm Motor Co. The car, black with red wheels, has had the dome light transferred from the old car and today an engineer was installing the police radio system.

4-H Delegates Pitch Tent in Ag Department

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Top representatives of the nation's 4-H Clubs pitched a tent in the center of the Agriculture Department's administration building today and began celebrating their 25th national encampment.

The tent in the patio is symbolic of the 4-H encampment held on the department's front lawn in 1927 when delegates actually camped out there and on the nearby mall. Now the young men and women wearing an H-lettered four-leaf clover and representing more than two million members live in hotels. But they like to show the public how they used to rough it.

To Gather Information

Nor will there be any farming or homemaking exhibits at the silver anniversary encampment. Only about 200 active members, plus 300 former camp delegates and 100 leaders are attending. The delegates are here to gather information and take it home. They will see how the federal government operates, participate in group discussions, hear nationally known speakers, exchange ideas with other delegates, and try to acquire a better understanding of the Department of Agriculture.

They will attempt to tie in the camp theme to "Your Government 4-H, and You" with the year-round slogan of 1955 of "Improving Family and Community Living."

The 4-H Clubs started long before the encampment, yet there is no definite date or specific site for their beginning. Club historians say the clubs began "in the early 1900's," and that the first groups were organized in such states as Ohio, Mississippi, New York, Iowa, and South Carolina. A few years ago the Post Office Department issued a commemorative 4-H Club stamp.

U. I. Meeting for Freshmen, Parents At Marion Friday

It will be at 7:30 p. m. CST in the Junior high school, at Marion. H. L. Crisp, Marion, Williamson county chairman for the association, is in charge of the meeting and arrangements.

Short talks, a movie, question session, and get-acquainted coffee hour are scheduled. Coming from the university to take part and answer questions will be Richard E. Hulet, assistant dean of men; Miss Mary E. Harrison, assistant dean of women; E. T. Sanford, assistant director, Division of Special Services for War Veterans; and Carroll J. Hubble, assistant manager of residence halls.

Cooperating in the statewide series of meetings is the University of Illinois Mothers' association, for which the Williamson county chairman is Mrs. Carl McNeil, Herrin. The meeting is open to everyone interested.

Bill to Permit Sales Tax Increase Goes To House Floor

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — The bill to permit city governments to levy a 1/2-cent city sales tax without referendum today was just two steps away from final legislative passage.

The bill came to the House floor with a 22-9 vote by the House Municipalities Committee to recommend it for passage. The measure already has been passed by the Senate.

The bill is a major plank in the Stratton-Daley state-city tax program. In the Senate, another part of that program, the bill to permit cities to levy a 5 per cent tax on gross receipts of public utilities, was moved to passage stage Tuesday.

The "state" side of the agreed program of the Republican governor and Democratic mayor, the bills for a two-year 1/2-cent state sales tax increase and for a matching use tax, today were scheduled for hearing before the House Revenue Committee.

Senate Approves New Armories

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — The Illinois Senate, with a vote of 42-2 and 1 present, approved a bill for new National Guard armories at Elmhurst, Litchfield, Freeport and West Frankfort.

Plans to build the armories were announced last year by Gov. William G. Stratton. The National Guard now rents armory space for units training at the three locations.

The bills authorize the adjutant general on behalf of the state to accept the sites from the armories from the communities. The bill appropriates $183,232 to the adjutant general for building the armories, with the lion's share of the cost to come from the federal secretary of defense.

The federal funds can be accepted after the sites are turned over to the state.

British MP, Ohio Wife Sneer at Peerage

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Special Correspondent
LONDON—(NEA)—An American girl who prefers the Cincinnati Reds to the royal purple is helping her British husband in his fight to escape becoming a viscount.

She is blonde Caroline Benn, 28, formerly of Cincinnati, and now married to one of the youngest Members of Parliament, Anthony Wedgwood Benn, 29-year-old Laborite.

Lots of American girls would prefer a viscount any day to a husband with a good bank account, would gladly swap a Cadillac for a coronet. But not Caroline.

Having her name appear in Debrett's Peerage means nothing to her. Neither does the prospect of hobnobbing with dukes and duchesses.

You can keep your ermine tippet and your tiara, says Caroline. She would much rather remain just plain "Mrs." Benn, like any other Midwestern American housewife.

Caroline's name was in the news not long ago when the question was raised in the House of Commons as to whether it was desirable for members to be married to "foreigners."

As Caroline has never given up her American citizenship, the dig was clearly intended for her. But how can she take an oath of allegiance to the British crown when she doesn't believe in the trappings of royalty? she asks in effect. Her husband agrees with her.

Both their sons—Stephen, three, and one-year-old Hilary James—have dual U. S.-British nationality, with the option of choosing whether they want to become baseball players or cricket batsmen when they come of age.

Meanwhile, there is this business of the peerage. Anthony Wedgwood Benn will automatically become a peer of the realm upon the death of his father, 77-year-old Viscount Stansgate, unless he is successful in his fight.

Peerage would mean that Benn would lose his seat in the House of Commons, where he is an up-and-coming Labor politician. Instead, he would have to sit in the stuffy House of Lords, where dukes speak only to bishops (there are 24 of them in the Lords), and bishops presumably commune with a better world.

Unlike the U. S. Senate, Britain's House of Lords is regarded as a graveyard littered with the bleached bones of aspiring politicians.

To renounce a peerage is not, as one would think, a simple matter. It requires a special Act of Parliament, and so far the House of Lords has refused Benn permission to introduce such an act.

The crusty lords take the position that nobility is not to be bandied about lightly.

As far as the Benns are concerned, however, the fight has only

MP ANTHONY BENN AND FAMILY: Mrs. Benn's still a citizen of Cincinnati; Steve, 3, and Hilary, 1, have an option.

just begun. For the past three months they have been searching feverishly for precedents to bolster up their case, Caroline making cups of strong tea for her husband and cold compresses for his head while he pores over mouldering manuscripts.

They have come across the case of William West, a 16th Century rakehell, for example. West tried to poison his uncle, Lord De La Warr, in 1549 in order to hasten his (West's) succession to the title.

The uncle, however, discovered the tell-tale white powder on the rim of his cup just in time, and promptly shoved a bill through Parliament cutting his nephew off from the title.

The case, set out on 18 skins of yellowed parchment, reads like a modern "horror" story, but Benn thinks that it parallels his own, in that it establishes Parliament's power to sanction the surrender of a peerage.

In arguing his case, Benn will be using the persuasive oratory that won him debating honors at Oxford University. It was at Oxford that he met Caroline, and later when he toured the U. S. with the Oxford debating team they were married in Cincinnati.

Benn comes from a long line of Members of Parliament, both his grandfather and his father having been MPs before him. In 1930 he was elected to the Commons, at the age of 24, to fill the vacancy left by the retirement of Sir Stafford Cripps.

Dodgers Blank Reds, 9-0, Increase Lead as Giants Shut Out Chicago Cubs, 5-0

By United Press

A majority of National league managers already have conceded the pennant to Brooklyn but the ones who are being dogged stubborn about it like Leo Durocher and Charlie Grimm—must be getting that futile feeling today in the face of the Dodgers' rapidly swelling 11-2 game lead.

Birdie Tebbetts of Cincinnati is one of the many pilots who feel the Dodgers will win this year and he saw nothing to change his mind Tuesday night as Brooklyn hammered four of his hurlers for 14 hits in a 9-0 victory.

Launching their second western invasion in fine style, the rip-roaring Dodgers exploded for six runs in the second inning while southpaw Johnny Podres hand-cuffed the Redlegs on seven hits for his seventh triumph. Duke Snider, who insists he'd rather hit in Crosley Field than Ebbets Field, capped the big six-run rally with his 20th home run that drove in two team-mates ahead of him.

Dodgers Gain Full Game

The Dodgers gained a full game on the second-place Cubs who ran afoul of both Gail Harris and Ruben Gomez in a 5-0 setback at the hands of the Giants. Harris, the rookie first baseman recently recalled from Minneapolis of the American Association, drove in three runs with his fourth homer in five games and a sacrifice fly while Gomez scattered eight hits for his third victory.

Milwaukee, still clinging to a faint hope, like the Giants, licked Philadelphia, 4-2, but remained 15 games behind the pace-setting Dodgers.

Eddie Mathews' 14th homer on the heels of a single by winning pitcher Lew Burdette proved the clincher in the eighth inning for the Braves. Loser Robin Roberts also was tagged for a two-run homer by rookie Chuck Tanner in the fourth while Granny Hamner homered for Philadelphia.

The Pirates trampled the Cardinals, 10-5, despite a pair of homers by Wally Moon. An eight-run rally in the fourth inning sewed up the game for the Pirates. Big Dale Long, who hit his fifth homer in the second inning, highlighted the fourth frame with a double and a single that accounted for three runs. Ronnie Kline notched his fourth victory although he needed Bob Purkey's help when he loaded the bases with none out in the second.

The Yankees remained 2 1/2 games ahead of the American league field with a 7-6 triumph over the Tigers in 10 innings. Mickey Hantle's single with two out in the 10th scored Joe Collins with the winning run but most of the dramatics were crammed into the ninth when a pair of errors helped the Yankees score three runs to tie the score.

Tigers Blow Lead

Ned Garver had a 6-3 lead going into the ninth and didn't seem troubled even when Irv Noren hit his second homer of the game to cut the margin to 6-4. First baseman Ferris Fain then let Mantle's grounder go through him for a two-base error but Al Aber, who relieved Garver, retired the next two batters and was only one out away from victory.

Aber, however, then threw Andy Carey's little dribbler into right field, Mantle scoring from third and Carey completing the circuit on the four-base error. George Zuverink came on in the 10th and was the loser while Tom Morgan gained credit for the victory.

Saul Rogovin walked Schem Lollar with the bases full to force in the only run of the game in the eighth inning and gave the White Sox a 1-0 decision over the Orioles. Screwballer Jack Harshman gained the victory although Sandy Consuegra came to his rescue in the ninth. The victory kept the White Sox a half-game ahead of the third-place Indians, who swept a twin-bill from the Senators.

Dale Mitchell's pinch single in the 11th inning gave the Tribe a 6-4 victory in the opener after Ralph Kiner's ninth inning pinch homer tied the score at 4-4. Bob Kie Herb Score pitched a two-hitter in the nightcap and was rewarded with a 3-1 victory, his seventh, although he gave up 11 walks. The Indians snapped a 1-all tie in the fourth inning of the nightcap, going ahead for good on Vic Wertz' double and George Strickland's single. Mickey McDermott was the loser.

The Red Sox poured across eight runs in the third inning to rout the Athletics, 12-4, with Norm Zauchin, Jim Piersall and Ted Williams each homering for Boston. Frank Sullivan was the winner.

VFW, Sugar Creeks, James, Saharas Win Kiwanis Games

By David Nelson

The VFW smashed out a 13-5 win over the First Christian church team, the Sugar Creeks overpowered the Dodgers, 15-4, James Bros. beat the Cubs, 18-6, and the Sahara Coals beat the Tigers in games played yesterday in the Kiwanis leagues.

The Sugar Creeks jumped off to a five-run lead in the first inning and were never behind. Billy Hopkins pitched a three-hitter for Sugar Creek. The winners got 14 hits with Pickford and Kames getting three safeties each. Guiley Farrar and Vick had hits for the losers.

The VFW pounded out 13 hits including home runs by Stone and Kane to trounce the Christian church entry, 13-5. Banks, Stone, Proffitt, Karnes and Hegglin had two hits each to lead the winners in hitting. Griffith and Holden had two hits each to lead the losers' five-hit attack. Cain picked up their other hit.

Olson, Student of Joe Louis, Takes Aim at Rocky Marciano

ASBURY PARK, N. J.—(NEA)—Bobo Olson reveals that he learned a lot watching Joe Louis and that he has wanted to fight for the heavyweight title since he broke in professionally 10 years ago at 17.

"If I beat Archie Moore, and I expect to," says the Swedish-Portuguese Hawaiian in quaint nasal pidgin English. "I'll fight Rocky Marciano next summer. When my kids grow up, if I can't tell them that their old man was the heavyweight champion I'll at least be able to say that I fought for it."

Olson liked the way Louis shuffled in, jabbed and then cut loose with a dozen or more punches. That gave him the idea of throwing his combinations in bunches.

Hogan, Snead Top Favorites In U. S. Open

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 1955 National Open golf tournament, destined to be the greatest of them all in the opinion of Gene Sarazen, opens here Thursday with the old-time twosome of Ben Hogan and Sam Snead in the favored roles.

A crack field of 162 professionals and amateurs, culled from more than 1,000 of the nation's best, will start teeing off Thursday at 11 a. m. EDT, and every seven minutes thereafter a threesome will start down the fairways of the old Olympic Club course. The last starter will hit his drive at 6 p. m.

But the fans will be watching Hogan and Snead in the main, with Snead the top attraction.

The one-time Virginia hillbilly, who has tried without success for 15 years to capture the most coveted of all golf crowns, is taking what may be his last crack at the National Open title.

He now is 43 years old and has finished second four times, stretching way back to 1937. Generally acknowledged as one of the great golfers of all time, this one has always proved a jinx to him.

On the other hand, Hogan has won it four times — and is seeking his fifth win here.

These two men, of course, aren't the only stars in the field. The defending champion is Ed Furgol, and the lame-armed professional plays this course very well. He is at the top of his game and is just off winning the International tournament at Washington, D. C., against the best golfers in the world.

Furgol probably is the most confident man on the course today. While the other stars have been moaning about this layout being too tough, the champion states simply that it is a "good test of golf," but that it can be licked.

Wid Matthews Refuses to Believe Cubs Will Collapse

CHICAGO (AP)—Wid Matthews refused to join the "experts" in predicting the collapse of the Chicago Cubs today, but said that "There's still a long way to go to do the job."

Matthews' "job" was to get the personnel to enable Manager Stan Hack to pilot the Cubs to the pennant. To complete that task, he foresaw at least another year, and he doubted he would make any trade today to help the club.

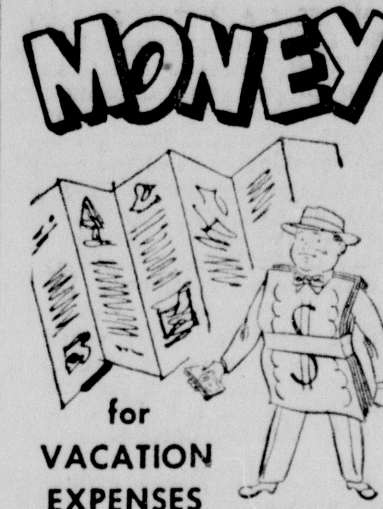

"We may be in second place," he said, "but we're still some 10 or 11 games behind Brooklyn. Brooklyn can be beat, and I know how to do it, but they're still a solid ball club, and we've got to build up to beat them."

Matthews said that the Cubs wouldn't fade this year, as the club has done in the past to finish in the second division, "because it's a good defensive club."

Caroline to Enroll For Summer Classes

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Former All-America J. C. Caroline expects to enroll for summer classes at the University of Illinois Thursday. Caroline, gridiron sensation of 1953, said he needs only nine credits this summer to make him eligible for football next season.

Before leaving for Illinois Tuesday he said he had returned to his home here to be with his mother, who recently underwent an operation.

Vaccine Rushed: AMA Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for the American Medical Assn. said today the Salk polio vaccine program ran into difficulties because "it was rushed."

But Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, sponsor of the program for inoculating first and second graders, strongly denied there had been any rush.

Almost from the start the mass inoculation program has been beset by delays stemming originally from the disclosure that some children developed polio after receiving shots manufactured by the Cutter Laboratories.

The "rush" charge was made by Dr. Julian Price, Florence, S. C., a member of the AMA board of trustees. He and O'Connor testified before the Senate Labor Committee.

O'Connor said that no vaccine in history "ever" had the testing, preparation and evaluation of the Salk vaccine.

"There has been no rush in this thing whatsoever," O'Connor said. He added that the vaccine is the result of 18 years of "intensive scientific research." He called it "a safe and effective vaccine."

The Senate committee is considering two bills: One, an administration bill to provide 35 million dollars to assist states in giving vaccine to children, the other, a Democratic bill to provide "free vaccine to all children."

There were 3,479 forest fires in California in 1954.

Believe Soviets Uneasy Over China

LONDON (AP) — Western diplomats said today Russian uneasiness over Communist China's sudden rise to power in the Far East may be the reason for the Soviet's new campaign of friendship in the West.

They suggested that Peiping has risen toward the status of a world power far faster than the Kremlin expected and that the Soviet is tidying up its relations with the West to keep her hands free for future dealings with her huge Asian neighbor.

The diplomats based this assessment on two parallel developments in world affairs: Peiping's increasing willingness to assert itself and Moscow's subsequent campaign to "normalize" relations with Austria, Yugoslavia and West Germany.

Last Minute Deal By Indians, Orioles

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Indians completed a last minute trade with the Baltimore Orioles today involving four players.

Outfielder Gene Woodling and infielder Billy Cox will come to Cleveland. In exchange, according to the announcement made here, the Indians will give up outfielders Wally Westlake and Dave Pope and an unspecified amount of cash.

House Group Approves Civil Service Boost

Measure Provides
7.5 Per Cent
Increase in Pay

By United Press

The House Civil Service committee today unanimously approved a bill to give one million federal civil service workers a 7.5 per cent pay boost retroactive to March 1.

If enacted, the pay increase would add about 325 million dollars to the federal payroll.

It was not certain when the bill will go before the House. Rep. John B. Moss (D-Calif.) said he is studying whether to make a floor fight to make the boost 8 per cent — the amount recently voted for 500,000 postal workers.

Other congressional news:

Elections: The Senate Rules committee approved a bill to overhaul federal election laws. The vote was along straight party lines — five Democrats for to three Republicans against. Among other things, the bill would put higher ceiling on political spending replacing present ones which have become meaningless because of loopholes in the law.

Trade: The House Ways and Means committee approved a bill to simplify customs procedures. Its effect would be to cut tariffs on about one-fourth of the country's total imports.

Dixon-Yates: House Republicans counted on northern Democrats to help them win a victory for the administration-backed Dixon-Yates power project.

At issue was $6,500,000 fund related to the project which the GOP hoped to restore to an appropriations bill called up for debate today. The fund was stricken from the bill last Friday by the Democratic-controlled appropriations committee.

Republicans predicted they would gain support for the Dixon-Yates project from Northern Democrats disturbed by the migration of industry southward to the vast area where cheap electricity is provided by the government-owned Tennessee Valley Authority.

The administration approved the Dixon-Yates contract as a means of eliminating the need for new expansion of TVA generating capacity. Under the contract, the private power combine would feed power into TVA from a plant at West Memphis, Ark. As a result, a proposed 90 million dollar plant TVA wanted to build at Fulton, Tenn., was cancelled.

The $6,500,000 fund junked by the appropriations committee was to have financed a TVA transmission line to link it to the Dixon-Yates plant. The committee's Democratic majority directed instead that the money be used to start work on TVA's Fulton plant.

Introduce Bill For Annual Sessions Of Legislature

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A bill to create a commission to study the possibility of having annual sessions of the Legislature today was introduced in the filibuster-laden House, where the possibility of extending this year's six-month biennial session is being considered.

House Speaker Warren L. Wood (R-Plainfield), bearing the brunt of the filibuster battle, advised the bill's sponsor, Rep. Paul Randolph (R-Chicago) to have the proposed commission consider "the possibility that three-fourths of the membership be able to suspend reading of a bill at large."

Filibusterers have been using the tactic of demanding that bills be read before the House in full three times in strict accordance with the constitution. Usually the House and Senate avoid this demand by having bill titles read and letting the journals show the bills read in full.

Annual Egyptian Council Boy Scout Meeting At Herrin on June 27

The annual meeting of the Egyptian Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Monday, June 27, at Herrin. It has been announced by George Hand, council president.

One of the largest meetings of the council is expected, as interest in scouting has greatly increased during the past year, it is said.

In discussing the meeting, Mr. Hand said "Once each year many join in person at the Egyptian Council annual meeting. We have a good time, with fine fellowship. We look over the results of our co-operative efforts and we set some new objectives. We honor some for their outstanding achievements and we have a few demonstrations of scout skills."

The meeting, which will start with dinner at 6:30 p. m., will be held in the LyMar hotel, Herrin.

Ex-Congressman Fined, Placed on Probation

WASHINGTON (UP)—Former Rep. Ernest K. Bramblett (R-Calif.) today was fined $5,000 and put on probation for a year for padding the payroll of his congressional office.

Appellate Judge Walter M. Bastian first sentenced the former congressman to not less than 4 months or more than 12 in jail, and then suspended the sentence and put Bramblett on probation for one year.

Bramblett was convicted on seven counts of padding his payroll. He could have received five years in prison on each count and a $10,000 fine on each.

Draft Ike Plan Faces Fight By Young GOP

DETROIT (UP)—Delegates registering for the Young Republican national convention here today indicated a floor fight may develop over a move to "draft Eisenhower for re-election."

A Texas delegation which was among the 1,600 delegates expected before registration closes tonight said it would oppose drafting any candidate for the next presidential campaign. Earlier, leaders of the convention said they would support a resolution to draft President Eisenhower if he does not seek the nomination.

John Strickler, chairman of the Texas group, said his delegation would fight the draft proposal on the floor at the opening general session Thursday or whenever it was introduced.

"It is our viewpoint that candidates should announce if they want the office and not have to be drafted," Strickler said.

"If the President wants to run that is his business and we will be happy to vote for him. But there are others, after all."

Sullivan Barnes, Sioux City, S. D., Young Republican national chairman, said he felt there was strong support of Mr. Eisenhower among the Young Republicans and indicated he believed the convention would support the draft movement.

"I feel certain the overwhelming sentiment is in favor of re-nomination of President Eisenhower and I would be surprised if it didn't find expression in some form," he said.

Other leaders said they expected the convention to start a chain-letter drive to convince the President that Republicans are eager to have him run again.

Stockyard Worker Survives Five Days In Refrigerator Car

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—A Chicago stockyard worker, who was locked in a refrigerated boxcar for a 5½-day trip without food and water, came out of his deep freeze in time to cheat the morgue Tuesday.

Workers unloading sheepskins found 28-year-old Manuel Ramirez, of Laredo, Tex., unconscious when they opened the car here.

The railroad workers thought Ramirez was dead and summoned police. Two patrolmen were taking him to the morgue when Ramirez opened his eyes. He was taken to Episcopal Hospital where physicians said he was in good condition except for a slight case of malnutrition and dehydration.

Ramirez told police from his hospital bed that he hopped aboard a freight train in Chicago at 5 p. m. last Wednesday after he was laid off from his stockyard job and his money had dwindled to one dollar.

He climbed into the refrigerated boxcar packed with sheep hides, thinking the train was going to Texas, where his family lives. While he hid among the hides, a railroad employee sealed the car and the temperature dropped to about 50 degrees as the train started for Philadelphia.

Train is Derailed By Washout; One Dead, Four Injured

FORT MORGAN, Colo. (UP)—The Union Pacific's passenger train, The Challenger, enroute from Chicago to Los Angeles, derailed at a washed-out bridge six miles north-east of here today, killing one and injuring three members of the crew and a passenger.

The train was being detoured around another washed-out portion of the railroad's main line between Julesburg, Colo., and Cheyenne, Wyo., when the accident occurred shortly before 6 a. m. CST.

Sen. Libonati Predicts Veto Of Korea Bonus Bill by Stratton

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special to The Register)—The threat of a veto of any immediate Illinois Korean War bonus bill by Gov. William G. Stratton has been posed in the state General Assembly. Sen. R. V. Libonati, D., Chicago, opposing a bill to submit a $100 million bond issue to the electorate next year, predicted the veto. He said Stratton favors a commission to make a study, obtain statistics and facts.

The Senate version of a bonus was passed by the Senate last week, 38 to 4, with seven senators voting "present." Sen. Glen O. Jones, R., Raleigh, author of the bill which was drafted by the Amvets, would provide $10 a month for stateside duty and $15 a month for combat service between July 26, 1950, and July 26, 1953 and $900 for the family of a veteran killed or who died in service.

Sen. George Drach, R., Springfield, speaking for the state administration, urged an "intelligent compromise." He suggested the bonus be limited to only those who were in Korea or had combat service. Others, he said, get educational and other preferences. He said this would cost about $30 million. Drach termed the Amvet bill "extravagant in its present form."

Sen. James W. Gray, D., East St. Louis, called it good legislation,

Sen. Egbert B. Groen, R., Pekin, said he thought the federal government should pay it. Sen. Merritt J. Little, R., Aurora, favored the commission study "to give us the tools to do the job—information and facts"; and Sen. Mrs. Lottie Holman, O'Neill, R., Downers Grove, said "we should show we appreciate what they done for us."

Meanwhile the Senate is holding on 2nd reading a House-approved bonus calling for a bond issue of $150 million. It represents the VFW version of a bonus and retirement of the bonds, would be financed through allocating of harness race track taxes and half the liquor tax. The Amvet version would be financed by a new two per cent tax on running races and allocation of part of the state cigarette tax.

Also pending in the Assembly are House and Senate proposals to create commissions to study the need of a bonus and the means of raising it but because the House measure contains a proviso for a report the first of this month, it is likely the Senate measure which calls for a report in 1957, will be given the right of way. It has been passed by the Senate and is in the House.

Jones is the lone sponsor of the Senate Amvet bonus bill and Sens. Dennis J. Collins, R., DeKalb, is chief sponsor of the Senate commission bill. The House VFW bonus bill has Rep. Clyde Choate, D., Anna, as chief sponsor and 20 others. The House commission bill has Rep. Paul Ziegler, D., Carmi, as chief sponsor, with names of 38 others on it.

State Sen. Homer Butler, R., Marion, is getting mention in legislative circles for the Republican nomination for congressman from the 25th southern Illinois congressional district. The seat is held by Kenneth J. Gray, West Frankfort Democrat who defeated the then incumbent C. W. (Runt) Bishop, Cartersville Republican, last year by 6,903 out of a total vote of 132,221.

The district embraces 15 counties in the extreme southern end of the state. It has more counties than other districts except the 23rd which also has 15, extending southward from south central Illinois. Next largest is the 20th which has 14 counties in central and west central Illinois. Incumbents in the 20th and 23rd are Sid Simpson, R., Carlinville, and Charles W. Vursell, R., Salem, respectively.

Camping Period Here for 4 1-2 Million Kids

By United Press

The water's fine for swimming. The fish are biting, and the mountain laurel is in fullest bloom. It's camping season, and about 4 1-2 million camp-bound American kids are straining at the leash.

This week and next they'll be kissing Mom and Pop goodbye in railroad and bus stations and on front doorsteps in every U. S. city. More than 13,000 resident and day camps, a figure that is rising faster than camping associations can keep track of it, are waiting to welcome them.

About 250,000 will go from New York City. Chicago will disgorge more than 60,000 into 315 camps in Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Minnesota and northern Illinois. The mountains of California and the Pacific Northwest will absorb hundreds of thousands from West Coast cities.

Costs Will Vary
Young Davy Crocketts from well-to-do families will go to the Gold Coast of the juvenile world—camps where the fee runs as high as $800 to $1,000 for an eight-week season. Waifs from the slums will be scooped off their asphalt playgrounds and sent to charity camps where the fee is nothing.

Fifteen teen-agers will spend two weeks camping out on the island of Sitka off the Alaskan coast. Their fee is $600 each. One hundred diabetic children will spend two weeks at a camp in California where no children but those with diabetes are allowed. The cost: $50.

The American Camping Assn. says there has been a phenomenal rise in camping since 1950, especially in day camps on the outskirts of major cities.

"Practically everyone who owns a station wagon is starting a day camp these days," said an official of a Chicago department store where the sale of camping equipment has been spiraling every year.

More Camps Yearly
The camping association made an effort toward a census of camps and campers in 1953 and came up with an estimate that there were 12,600 organized resident and day camps in the United States, and at least four million persons had an organized camping experience each year.

The number of resident camps has increased about 10 per cent, while day camps have seen a 20 per cent rise.

A camp at Elkhart, Wis., offers visitors a combination of outdoor living and training in dramatic arts. There are camps for musicians, painters, sculptors and writers. Some camps accommodate only crippled children or the blind. By far the greatest number of boys and girls attend organizational camps—under sponsorship of the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, the YMCA and YWCA, and a multitude of other religious and civic groups.

Plan Building Improvements at Shawneetown High

Several building improvements are being planned at the Shawneetown high school, Principal Herschel Newcomb revealed this week.

One is already underway with the placement of new celotex on the ceiling of the basement rooms and hallways of the main building. James Mitchell, teacher in the school system, is directing this work at present.

Mr. Newcomb stated that a plan to blackout the gymnasium windows, thus permitting use of film, is being considered. A new amplification system is also planned. Several other minor changes to improve the school plant were also undergoing consideration, he said.

Mrs. Claude Drone, of Ridgway, has been employed to teach in the Shawneetown grade school system next year.

M. M. Davis, who has taught in the grade school at Shawneetown for the past several years, resigned his position there this spring to accept the principalship of the Cave-in-Rock high school.

Senate Bill Asks Boost in Workmen's Compensation Benefits

SPRINGFIELD — A series of "agreed" bills to boost workmen's compensation benefits from a $29-$38 scale to $34-$40 and increasing death benefits by $1,250 on the senate floor immediately.

in each class was introduced in the Illinois senate today. Sen. Merritt J. Little (R-Aurora) said the bills, which also boost injury benefits, were agreed on by labor and management groups after being studied by a senate subcommittee. They were advanced to the amendment stage on the senate floor immediately.

Muscles vs. Wishing

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Here at home, critics of President Eisenhower's foreign policy assail our A-bomb tests, shake their heads a bit sadly at Germany's entry into NATO, and urge that we eagerly grasp the extended Russian olive branch (1955 model).

Abroad, a similar call is heard from the British Labor party, from French neutralists, from German Social Democrats, and others. India's Nehru goes even further and says there ought not to be a NATO.
All these groups would like it very much, too, if the United States were to announce publicly, for the benefit of the Chinese Communists, that we would do nothing to defend the Chinese coastal islands of Matsu and Quemoy. Some would also be happy if we yielded Formosa.

This entire approach is based on a wishful reading of the intentions of the Communist leaders in Moscow and Peking.

At the extreme, Nehru says chances for peace would be much greater if the United States and its friends would not band together in military alliances. He regards such pacts as provocative.

The truth is that if there were no NATO, Nehru would not be able to enjoy the luxury of talking about how nice it would be without military pacts. For France and Italy might be under Communist control, and emboldened Red leaders might also be pushing deeper into Asia.

The same might be said for all the comment about the A-bombs. So wise a statesman as Sir Winston Churchill has more than once declared that the American margin in nuclear weapons has been the real guardian of the free world's cause in the last decade.

It cannot continue to be such a guardian if it is allowed to dwindle away. To maintain our superiority we must have more than greater numbers of nuclear weapons. We must have better ones than the Russians have. We cannot develop them if we cannot test them. We must be able to measure their effect, their impact on the techniques of offense and defense.

Again, if we did not do this, if we did not hold our advantage, neither we nor the Europeans nor anybody else would be able to talk so freely about how all the A-tests should be called off.

It does not seem to occur to the critics that the over-riding reason why the Reds are today making soft overtures of peace, why they have shifted from military to economic and political ventures of conquest, is that by our defensive pacts and our nuclear weapons we have made war so unattractive to them.

Those who know the Communists best find not one single fact to justify a belief they have given up their goal of conquest. No sudden upsurge of brotherly love prompts Moscow and Peking to take a different tack. The new overtures are strategy keyed to the strictest opportunism.

We have forced them to this pass. It would be near insanity for us to dissipate the advantage we have gained by measuring their change of strategy as a change of heart.

We must indeed always be willing to talk to sound out the Reds.
We must be alert for the time when our strength on all fronts—military, political and economic—is so great that the Communists will see that every avenue to conquest is barred to them. For then we may truly expect them to seek a real "live and let live" peace with the free world.

There is no sign this moment has arrived. Those who fall all over themselves in frantic willingness to take the Reds at their latest, carefully contrived word must bring great amusement to the high councils of communism. Surely their shallow understanding contributes little to the cause of freedom.

ar will keep a freshly-baked cake

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Washington Post Publisher
Proposes That Entire Public Contribute To Political Campaign; Nixon And Bush Secret Funds Appear To Influence
Senators' Voting; Sen. Bush
Followed Wall Street Voting Line.

WASHINGTON — Philip Graham, publisher of the Washington Post, recently made a proposal that gets to the root of pocketbook congressmen, in other words, congressmen who take kickbacks, secret slush funds or other money on the side in addition to their regular salary.

He pointed out that no senator or representative should be obligated by political financial contributions to any special group of people and that political contributions therefore should be raised from all the people, not a few.

Graham's wise proposal was not aimed specifically at either the Nixon personal expense fund or the newly unearthed secret fund of Senator Prescott Bush, Republican of Connecticut. It was aimed primarily at the general practice of making heavy contributions to any candidate, for president or for congress. However, Graham's idea is even more appropriate in the case of Nixon and Bush secret personal funds, paid to both men by wealthy friends while serving in the Senate without the voters knowing a thing about it.

The Corrupt Practices Act was passed to discourage or at least highlight heavy contributions by special interest groups to any senator or congressman. It was considered only fair that if either big corporations or big labor unions contributed to a senator the amounts should be registered with the clerk of the Senate so that the public would know whether the senator's vote was influenced by the campaign funds he received.

That's why when Nixon or Senator Bush, or any other solon gets a secret expense fund from wealthy friends while serving in the Senate it completely violates the whole intent and probably the letter of the Corrupt Practices Act.

NIXON'S REVELATIONS
When under pressure of public indignation Senator Nixon, then a candidate for vice president, published his private expense fund it was found that the money came chiefly from 15 oil operators, 11 real estate men, several milk producers, and several munitions and war contractors. All had a definite stake in legislation on which Nixon was voting, to say nothing of tax-amortization and other important rulings by the federal government.

Though Nixon claimed he had done no favors for any of his donors, it soon developed that he had sent his administrative assistant to the tax division of the Justice Department to try to get a $500,000 tax refund for Dana Smith. Smith was the man who collected the $18,000 private expense fund for Nixon.

It also developed that when the same Dana Smith lost $4,000 at the San Souci gambling casino in Havana, gave a $4,000 check for the debt and then reneged on the check, Nixon actually wrote a letter to the American ambassador to Cuba asking his help for Smith regarding this gambling debt.

The American ambassador is supposed to concern himself with important problems affecting the United States and Cuba. However, Dana Smith had collected $18,000 for Nixon's private expense fund, and Nixon made the unusual move of asking for help regarding a defaulted gambling debt.

NIXON'S RECORD
Nixon's record in the Senate also shows that he went right down the line for the groups that contributed to his fund. Here, for example, is how he voted on issues of vital interest to the 11 big real estate operators who contributed.
Voted to cut public housing from 50,000 to 5,000 units; to shorten rent controls by four months; to give localities the say-so on imposing rent controls in critical areas; introduced an amendment to the defense bill aimed at side-tracking public housing.

And here is how he voted on issues affecting the 15 big oil operators who contributed:

For the basing-point bill which the oil companies favored; against cutting the oil depletion allowance to 14 per cent; vigorous championing of Tidelands oil; sent copies of Tidelands oil literature for the oil companies out under his own Senate frank.

When Senator Prescott Bush was asked who the contributors were to his $25,000 secret fund, he at first offered to make the list public, then changed his mind.

However, he explained that his contributors were men who wanted to support his point of view.

"Many bankers and businessmen," he went on to say, "agree with me on a stable money policy."

SENATOR BUSH'S RECORD
When you examine Senator Bush's voting record, however, you come to the conclusion that he concurred with his big contributors—or they concurred with him—on much more than hard money. At times he even deserted his own Republican president, Mr. Eisenhower, to side with the conservative business group that supported him.

Here are some of his more significant votes during the current sessions of Congress:

In favor of tying the President's hands re the exchange of atomic information; against permitting the government to generate atomic energy; against the regulation of private business from using atomic energy; against sharing atomic patents as proposed by Eisenhower.

In regard to taxes, he was against closing the loophole in the estate tax on life insurance, for tax reductions on corporation shareholders, against reducing the excise tax on automobiles, for the 55¢ tax exemption on corporate shareholders, against the George amendment giving $100 additional exemption for each dependent.

In regard to electric power, he opposed an increase of REA loans, opposed giving preferences to cities and co-ops in the distribution of Columbia river power, favored Dixon-Yates.

He also voted against Eisenhower on reciprocal trade for three years, did not want to give Congress the right to review the sale of government rubber factories, wanted to reduce the school-lunch program, favored stiffening the Taft-Hartley act, wanted to give railroads the right to increase rates without a hearing.

And finally, he voted to confirm

XXXVI

In Ray County, Charlie Ford held hurried council with his young brother, Bob, a sometime hanger-on of the James gang. Within the hour, Bob saddled up and rode away—straight for the governor's mansion in Jefferson City. Here the business was short, if far from sweet. Yes, his Excellency did guarantee the $10,000 for the boys. He guaranteed it—no matter his proclamation was not clear on the point—for either Frank or Jesse. And, yes, the guarantee did stand at Dead or Alive.

Within the month Jesse accompanied Charlie Ford to the Ray County farm. Here they were in time to learn that Wood Hite had come in from Kentucky some days earlier. The previous night, Liddell and Bob Ford, fearful that Hite had gone over to the law, had murdered him in the farmhouse living room.

The year turned. Jesse flitted through the mid-Missouri backwoods like a ghost. Finally, he removed his family to St. Joseph, renting the ill-fated "little white house on the hill."

Dick Liddell, who had surrendered to Timberlake on a promise of clemency from Governor Crittenden, signed a 14-page confession. In it he named dates, places and faces for every job the gang had pulled since Northfield.

Liddell's "coming in" had been well guarded by the authorities. Jesse's first hint of it was when he stepped out on the front stoop of the Howard home to pick up his copy of the St. Joseph Gazette the morning of April 3.

At the inquest, Bob Ford related that Jesse walked into the living room from the porch, holding the paper, unfolded.

"He stopped just inside the door," he continues, "opened the paper and looked at it. He just stood there staring over the top of the paper at us and blinking like he always did when upset."

Ford's next line was unquestionably the correct translation of that last, pale-eyed blink.

"I knew then I had placed my head in the lion's mouth," he says fearfully. "How could I safely remove it?"

It was just after 8 a. m. the morning of April 3 when fate answered it for him.

For the first time in 16 years, Jesse took off his guns.

It was the third mistake. His account was overdrawn. Quietly, the black book closed. Its last page bore the purple cancellation stamp of the failed telegram dispatched to Governor Crittenden and Sheriff Timberlake at 8:27 a. m.

"I have killed Jesse James, St. Joseph, Bob Ford."

Charles Ford told under cross-examination at the inquest:

"Jesse complained of being warm and pulled off his coat and threw it on the bed and opened the door and said that he guessed he would pull off his gunbelt as some person might see it. Then he went to brush off some pictures, and when he turned his back I gave my brother the wink and we both pulled our pistols but he, my brother, was the quickest and fired first. . . . I saw his shot was a death shot and did not fire. He heard us cock our pistols and turned his head."

Robert Ford was then called, and asked:

" . . . Did the governor then tell you anything about a reward?"

"He said $10,000 had been offered for Jesse or Frank dead or alive. I then entered into arrangements with Timberlake."

For three days the witnesses came forward, each in his somber turn declaring his association with the bandit chief, swearing to the identity of the bearded corpse. Mrs. Zerelda Samuel was the last witness called.

"I live in Clay County and am the mother of Jesse James. Oh, my poor boy, I have seen the body since my arrival and have recognized it as that of my son, Jesse. The lady by my side is my daughter-in-law and the children hers. He was a kind husband and son."

Nothing remained but the inevitable postscript returned by the coroner's jury 28 minutes after filing out: that the body of the deceased was that of Jesse W. James and that he came to his death by a wound in the back of his head, caused by a pistol shot fired intentionally by the hand of Robert Ford. Thus, officially, closed the Last Act.

Funeral services were held at the Kearney Baptist Church. The text was taken from the Book of Job, xii, 8: "Man that is born of woman is of few days and full of trouble. . . ."

The cortege wound slowly across the gray hills toward the Samuel farmhouse. Once more, Zerelda Mimms stood in a farmyard beneath a tree and watched them bring her lover home.

But this was not a catafalque, and not her father's farmyard. Sixteen weary years had fled.

The clouds showered hollowly down, the shovels shaped the final moundings of the heavy earth. The men went away.

Presently, Mrs. Samuel drew her dark shawl closer, moved away toward the house. Zerelda Mimms was alone with the shadows and the crushed flowers and the faint marble legend of the man for whom she had waited a thousand lonely nights.

New Dentist Needs $7,701 To Start

CHICAGO — It costs the average young dentist $7,701 to start a private practice, according to a survey reported in the Journal of the American Dental Association.

It was based on replies to questionnaires sent to all dentists who graduated during the period 1951 through 1954.

The association's bureau of economic research and statistics, which conducted the survey, said the $7,701 is "exclusive of finance charges."

It includes $5,870 for dental equipment, $530 for dental supplies, $270 to furnish a reception room, $208 for business equipment, $283 for wiring and plumbing, $203 for partitioning and $115 for other expenses.

The $7,701 is a mean figure for all the United States. But the Journal said there is some cost variation by regions. It cost nearly $9,000 to start a practice in the Far West, and only $6,886 to start a practice in the Midwest.

About 14 per cent of the dentists who answered the questionnaires said they bought established practices instead of setting up their own.

The Journal said the average price of an established dental practice was $4,634, although some practices sold for as little as $100 and others (8.5 per cent) cost more than $10,000.
